CAMPAIGN SONGS

READY TO DIE

Tunes—Ready to die, 187; Oh, I'm happy all the day, 190; Song Book, 122.

With a sorrow for sin must repent, once begin.
Then Salvation of course will draw nigh;
But I'll wash in the Blood of the crucified Lord.
You will never be ready to die.

Chorus

Oh, I'm happy all the day, now in Saviour's glory.
And I never want to grieve Him
any more.
For my Saviour He has washed me
in His all-atoning Blood.
And I hope to see Him washing many more.

We're His word and His oath, and His Blood seals them both—
And we're sure the Almighty can't be wrong.

If you do not delay, but repeat while you sing.
He will soon make you ready to die.

COMING TO THREE

Tunes—I hear Thy welcome voice,
69; Silchester, 73; Song Book, 41.
I hear Thy welcome voice
That calls me, Lord, to Thee.
For cleansing in Thy precious Blood
That flowed on Calvary.

Chorus

I am coming, Lord.
Coming now to Thee;
Wash me, cleanse me in Thy Blood
That flowed on Calvary.

Though coming weak and vile,
Thou dost my strength assure;
Thou dost my weakness fully cleanse
Till spotless all and pure.

A Glad Welcome Home!

THE SALVATION ARMY OFFERS TO EVERY RETURNING SOLDIER THE HEARTIEST OF WELCOMES

Hostels where comfortable lodging and good food may be obtained at reasonable prices have been opened at many places.

All Salvationists, many of them returned men themselves, will be delighted to serve the home-comers or their relatives in any way.

Come to the Meetings at the Army Hall, and join in thanking God for victory, peace, and a safe return!

ON THE WRONG ROAD

While dreaming dreams,
While scheming schemes,
Seeking the way to win,
Do not forget
That never yet
Has pleasure brought peace within,
Turn, and to Jesus confiding,
Find joy and peace that's abiding.

CHOICES

Why forever chasing pleasures,
Worldly pleasures, fleeting fate?
They soon are past,
Leaving at the last,
An aching void and evil you cast
Gloom of death moulding,
From such folk flee;
Treasures seek that are eternal
In the Christ of Calvary!

When passed away
Life's little day,
And to death's silent stream,
You soul draws nigh,
Eternity
Will only shatter your dream;
Leaving you alone and lonely,
Leaving you bitterness only.
—Barr, Brigadier.
"These words are a hint to the true
"Bubble".

THE WAY OF SALVATION

"The wages of sin is death!"
"Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."
"God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

THE SEARCHLIGHT

Acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace; thereby good shall come unto thee.
"Receive, I pray thee, the low from His mouth, and lay up His words in thine heart."
If thou return to the Almighty, thine shall be built up, thou shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles.
For then shalt thou have thy delight in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face unto God.
Thou shalt make thy prayer unto Him, and He shall hear thee, and thou shalt pay thy vows.
*****

FROM the days when Judah, warned by the Prophet Azariah, put away her idols and, at Jerusalem, entered into a sacred covenant with God—swearing
"with a loud voice, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cymbals"—both men and notions have understood something of the value of these solemn undertakings.

But unwritten covenants may be forgotten. The spoken word passes. If it does not fade from the memory of the living man it will most probably die with him.
There are, therefore, many reasons why a contract that is to be binding on the parties concerned shall be put into writing and be duly signed and attested. This is almost everywhere on elementary principle in the conduct of legislation and business. "Let us put that in writing," men say, when it be the constitution of a nation

Bubbles that Burst

AND SOMETHING THAT IS BETTER

TRUE JOY is something more than the pleasure which is excited by even the most momentary gratification of the senses. It is a gladness which is constant, and in which the whole being shares, which is independent of outside circumstances, but can only exist when there is consciousness of a real cause for happiness.

Happiness is sought in many directions, but joy answering to this description can only be obtained in one way.

Empty Things

Some people imagine they can find satisfaction in such empty things as the wearing of fine clothes and the possession of good looks, and devote themselves to following the fashions and setting themselves off in a manner likely to attract attention. They will probably get their reward, the extent of which will be determined —as in all phases of life—by the extent of their abandonment to the purpose in view, but even at the height of their proudest triumph, a moment's reflection will conjure up visions of a wrinkled brow, from which the clear, bright bloom of youth has vanished.

Wealth! Ah, the satisfaction which the word seems to represent to those who have it not. To be wealthy is surely to be happy, think the men who look only at the surface of things. But stay, with the gathering of wealth, and as surely as the putting of dollar to dollar makes the money bag heavy, comes alike a desire for more, and more, and a fear lest that in hand should be lost. And behind everything, at the back of every undertaking and the end of every project for adding to it, is the grim necessity of leaving every-cent behind when death's finger beckons.

Given Up to Sport

How the young men of all ages have given themselves up to sport.
Athletic exercises are good and proper in their right place—which is when they are employed to keep the body in a condition to render the best possible service to God, and stop short of benefiting the physical at the expense of the spiritual.

But see the multitude who appear to have no other object in life. Their very work is done only because it brings them the money necessary to enable them to indulge their taste in this direction.
The seriousness of life is lost sight of—they live for what at the most should be a recreation. They are happy while at their games, but do not know anything about real joy. They cannot. There is a skeleton at the feast which, try to avoid contemplation of it as they will, forces itself upon their attention at times with the warning that one day their limbs will be stiffened, and their muscles withered, and drawn, that the motchless vigour and spring which is now theirs will pass from them as it has passed from the generations which have preceded them, as a cloud fits across the sky and is gone.

Whirl of Gaiety

And then the great multitude who seek happiness in the whirl of mirth and gaiety—butterflies whose appetites are cloyed by the sweets they gather, the taste of which, however, creates an insatiable desire for more, and leads them on from flower to flower, ever anticipating, but never realizing satisfaction. Their meriment never approaches to anything more than on appearance of joy;
like the brass counterfeit of a golden coin, when proved by any falsity save that of appearance its falsity is apparent.

True joy can alone be found in whole-hearted devotion to the worship and service of God.
Why is this so? Because it is the end for which man was created. It is in the order of nature, which is only another way of saying it is the Will of God, it should be so, that all animate creatures are endowed with instincts and appetites, the proper satisfying of which lead to their fulfilling their purposes for which they exist. It is only when this end is completed that they are free from which may be called happiness or contentment.

Man's soul is a spiritual creation, and is endowed with great instincts and appetites, which are intended to lead him to fulfill the end for which he was created, and it is only when this is done that they can be satisfied and he be happy.

Can Choose for Himself

Man is not bound to a blind following of his instincts in the manner in which a brute beast is.
He is gifted with reasoning faculties which enable him to weigh up matters and choose for himself.
If he prefers to feed his appetite for happiness upon the cheap mere pleasure instead of the spiritual food which it is intended to lead him to, then that is his own responsibility. Unless he follows the leadings of his spiritual instincts in the direction which his own reason, prompted by the voice of conscience, approves as right, he cannot be happy, because to be so requires the satisfying of reason that there are good and sufficient grounds for satisfaction.

No man who is not sure about the Salvation of his soul can allow himself to think upon the subject without perceiving the horror and danger of his position.

But he, who having accepted Christ as his Saviour, has become a child of God is truly happy, because he is in the hands of a loving Father.

The past has been put right by the forgiveness of his sins, and reconciliation with God.

He daily does the Will of God, and in so doing fulfills his destiny and enjoys the favour of his Creator.

A Satisfactory Bond

3. His future is committed to One Whose love to man is so great that in giving to the world His new, best Name, "He Who in Himself is Omnipotence and Omnipresence, declared it to be "Love." "All things work together for good to them that love God"—thus he who loves God has All-loving Omnipotence and Omnipresence as a guarantee for the future, and surely no bond could be more satisfactory.—R.S.

COVENANT KEEPING

or the agreement of a suburban colliage.

In those personal undertakings between God and man the advantages of the written record are correspondingly valuable.

To make such an engagement with the Most High God (says the Founder) carries with it the great responsibility as to the future.
When two persons make an agreement with each other as to certain duties which they mutually promise to perform, each will naturally expect the other to fulfil all his engagements, and whilst they expect God will fulfil all the engagements He has made with them in His promises, they must remember that He will also expect them to perform the solemn vows
they may make to Him.

But how shall we keep it

mind and heart the full meaning of our covenant, enter into the moments of deep spiritual exultation such as we cannot expect always to prevail, unless we are able to recall more or less completely the words of our vows?

It was partly due to this fact that when the Lord God gave the covenant to His people, that General William and Mrs.
Booth, with far-seeing wisdom, introduced Articles of War, a document which must be signed by all who wish to be enrolled as Soldiers; and veterans
thank God for the outpoken confession of these Articles, which has been to the one a inspiration in the midst of temptation, and to the other a strength in discouragement.

To quote one of these beautiful controls, what could be more solemnly binding than the following paragraph from the Holiness Covenant—

"Blessed Jesus, the world de-spises Thee, but I glory in Thee;
the world hates Thee, but I love Thee; for Thy sake I separate myself from the world, from its amusements, from its friendships, from its fashions, and from its pleasures. I now promise that I will follow Thee with all my heart,
obey Thee with all my strength,
cleave to Thee with all my affection, and fight for Thee all my days."

Can you sign that? No one we think, could seriously set his soul to such an undertaking and be quite the same afterwards. Remembering his covenant he will High Water that heard the solemn vow.
This vow renewed shall daily be and claims from God power to fulfil his promises.

SERVING THE MEN IN KHAKI

Survey of the Work of Adjutant and Mrs. Burry Who Have Lately Returned From Overseas
—At Salvation Army Huts in England and France—Catering to Spiritual and Temporal Needs

It was the last Friday before the Christmas of 1916, (writes Adjutant Burry), A cold, heavy gale was blowing from the North-west, driving every bit of dust and rubbish its own way. I was standing by the tripod, on the corner of Union and Charlotte Streets at St. John, N. B., and on the top of which was placed a large sign bearing the words, "Christmas Relief. Please Help," and hanging on a chain, listened to where the three legs met, was an iron pot to receive the donations of those who wished to make the Salvation Army their almoner.

As I stood there Brigadier Barr came along and informed me that he had just received a telegram from Toronto, asking if my wife and I would go overseas to work among the troops for the duration of the war.

Willing to Go

I had a short conference with my wife who happened to come along a few minutes later, and within the same hour the Brigadier was able to inform the Commissioner of our willing-ness to go.

Our hope was to be of some blessing to the dear fellows who were hurrying to the help of their country.

We went to England on the "Scotian" arriving at Liverpool on January 16, 1917. Our first appointment was Shoreham, where we were in the midst of a Canadian Camp. We held meetings, visited hospitals, distributed "War Cries," and served food. Here, too, our Hut was noted and appreciated for the big stove it possessed. This was by no means the smallest blessing during the desperate cold of that winter. What drafts of brave Canadian fellows did we see marching away from here for the battle-grounds of France and Flanders, singing and waving as they went, although they must have been fully aware that they were going to hard-ship, danger and death. Many of them are gone, but will return no more. Serpents, none of them can be. There are monuments to their memory everywhere. May peace, following the bloody strife in which they fell, remain, when bronze and marble have crumbled, and the "Love." "All things work to-gether for good to them that love God"—thus he who loves God has All-loving Omnipotence and Omnipresence as a guarantee for the future, and surely no bond could be more satisfactory.—R.S.

Secured Passports

After waiting four or five days and meanwhile making several calls at the passport office we secured our papers just before noon on Saturday, September 23rd, dashed off with them to the office of the French Consul, secured all the necessary signatures, and then back to 101 Quebec Victoria Street.

Staff-Captain Simms, who had been piloting us kindly took us out for lunch, and afterward accompanied us to Waterloo Station and gave us aboard for Southampton. My diary for Sunday, September 24th, contains the following note: "Safe Journey across Channel Reached La Havre about seven o'clock and going to camp. Red Cross man very kindly offered his assistance, and took our baggage to the Hotel where we had breakfast with Major and Mrs. Japp, who were very kind."

We were appointed to the No. 2 Rest Camp, where a new hut was just ready to open. This met a great need. Troops were coming from everywhere by thousands and going to the front. Some were from warm climates, and as the autumn and winter drew on these felt the cold keenly. There were only tents to sleep in and often enough far less of these than were required. One Sunday night an American Officer requested us to keep open for his men till 12, when their train would be leaving. We gladly did so, accompa-nied about seven hundred and giving every man of them a cup of tea, free of charge immedi-ately before they left.

No people living can exceed the Yanks in showing appreciation of a kindness shown, and the Salvation Army came in for a big share at that time.

We spent five months at this hut and had a busy time right through, keeping open for early morning till late at night, without fail. One day the ambulance came and took Mrs. Burry and one of the workers off to the hospital, while still another worker was ordered to stay in bed, which order she had to obey. I was left with one worker and for several days we had to put extra work enough to make up for the absent ones, snatching our own meals when we could, until help arrived. What thousands of men we saw at this camp but once, like ships that meet on the ocean—hall and pass on.

ADJUTANT and MRS. BURRY

Visiting the Hospitals

We went from Havre to the Canadian General Base at Etaples. In addition to other work here we had great opportunity for hospital visitation, and the need of this was great. Men broken, lacerated, maimed, blinded, gassed, sick, what pitiful and heartrending sights we saw, especially just after the last German offensive took place. As a rule we went to every local, and spoke to every man in the ward. Mrs. Burry taking one side and I the other.

Of course all religious denominations were represented there, and probably men representing no religion at all were not the fewest in numbers, but all alike received us gladly, and I do not remember a single case in which some appreciation of our visit was not shown. Sometimes we were able to take little bits of chocolate and fruit, and this we would give out as we went as far as it would go. Alas, it was only like a drop in the ocean compared with the need. Again and again did we come to our last bunch of grapes and the last orange with still hundreds of poor fellows burning with fever and parched with thirst unsupplied. This was a very sore trial even to ourselves.

Here we had a very anxious and trying time owing to the air raids which covered a period of six or seven months. The first took place just at the start of the last German offensive. On Sunday, May 13th, about 10.30 p.m., just as we had gone to bed, we heard the bursting of four heavy shells, one of which followed another in rapid succession. This went on for almost two hours without cessation. After the first few minutes the anti-aircraft guns started and kept up a constant fire, the hissing fire of whose shells was terrific with sharp ping in every direction. We could do nothing but keep under what cover we had, and pray and wait.

The results of this raid were terrible. Among the killed were Bandmaster Firby, who led his Band at the meeting in one of our huts only an hour or so before, and Sergeant Taylor from Toronto, both of whom were connected with the hospitals. We attended the funeral. Very little, however, of the dear Bandmaster could be found to bury, he having been blown to pieces by a bomb that fell right on his hut. After this, because there were yet no digouts, we sought safety at nights in the open fields two or three miles away. This was very trying, especially to the women, and I cannot describe how glad we would be when stormy weather would make it possible for us to rest in our hut in safety.

Then right in the midst of it all, as if the ter-rors of war were not enough, came the influenza epidemic, cutting down like a scythe, its hun-dreds of the brightest and strongest and best. But this was the darkest hour, and the dawn was soon to break.

A Month at Abbeville

Late in October, 1918, Colonel Haines asked us to go to Abbeville to supply for an Officer who was sick. We spent just the month of Novem-ber at this place, arriving on the first day and leaving on the last. Here we witnessed the great rejoicing that took place on the 11th when the armistice was signed.

The people had suffered terribly from air raids. The armies of the enemy had come almost with-in shelling distance and for a while they knew not how soon their town would be levelled with the dust, as so many others had been, but almost by the skin of the teeth this was averted, and it is no wonder that adequate means to express their gladness could not be found. But all made some attempt. A little girl of only five or six years came and looking up in my face, as I went down the street just after the news reached us, said, "La guerre est finie, Monsieur." (The war is finished, Sir). And the old haker who came with our bread took off his cap and shouted, "Hurrah," as loud as he could, and I shouted with him.

Leaving Abbeville we went sent to Valenciennes. The work of our huts has been of immense value to the men and huts. We have sought light, spirit, good, and many have been saved. We have entered to their temporal needs, not con-stantly ourselves with serving merely bodily needs, but have striven to provide something more substantial. The number of eggs cooked and served must be many millions. Sometimes when these could not be obtained, fish could, and we would go for that.

"It seems to me," said a man as he passed our back door and saw me, with the help of a French woman, cleaning herring, "that the Salvation Army is the only enterprising concern around here." Our efforts in this way were greatly pre-vented. So were the herring, for the smell of them as they fried, or else the news, seemed to reach far and wide and long queues of men would come and wait their turn to be served. Alas, many a poor fellow got disappointed by the failure of the supply before he could reach the counter. We could never handle enough to meet all the need. Chipped potatoes were well liked, and scores, if not hundreds of tons must have been served. For bread we would get flour from England which the French bakers would bake for us. Sugar we were very often without entirely.

Home Touches

Our Huts and Hostels have been regarded as, and sometimes called "Home away from home." We found that little home touches we could put about them, of great worth. A suitable pic-ture, a map or a motto had the effect of making the poor fellows more comfortable and less lone-ly. At Etaples the Canadian boys would stand upon the walls and shout, "Home, home, home," and had hanging high upon the wall, and pointing out the spot would say "that's where I live, right there."

Home never meant so much to men before as during this war. Many a lad has remarked to his chum who previously didn't know that "this Salvation Army serves tea in cups and saucers," commenting that "it makes our huts like home. Alas, we have not always been able to do this, and I have seen ourselves compelled to use even empty milk tins for this purpose, there being 30 many more men than cups."

So in all directions our work has been very imperfect and our accomplishments far less than we desired. But in some ways the men have always seemed to understand our handicaps, be-lieved our explanations and taken our wills for needs, and from them, who certainly are the best judges, come words of high appreciation of what has been done for them.

EARLSCOURT (TORONTO)

Sunday Campaign Led by Mrs. Brigadier Green—Eleven Seekers

Mrs. Brigadier Green, assisted by Captain and Mrs. Moat, conducted the meetings at Earlscourt on Sunday, Nov. 11. Good crowds attended and God's Spirit was manifested in much blessing. During the holiness meeting eight Young People came out for the blessing of full Salvation. During the afternoon the Corps Cadets and Candidates to the number of twenty-two, took part in very interesting services.

At night after a very stirring message from Captain Moat, three sons sought the Saviour.

We have recently welcomed to Earlscourt Handsman and Mrs. Brown from New York, also Brother and Sister Robbins from Dorchester, while we have said farewell to Mrs. Crouch, the wife of our Bandmaster, who has returned to England.

SEAFORTH

Visit of Life-Saving Guards From Stratford Corps

On October 19 and 20 Seaforth had a visit from Ensign Mercer, Sergeant-Major Clark, Guard Leader Mrs. Clark and the Life-Saving Guards of Stratford.

On Saturday night the Guards gave a good programme consisting of drills, dialogue and singing, which was appreciated by an audience which packed the hall. The Sunday meetings were good.

Since Captain Kirkby took charge four months ago the attendances have increased. One soul surrendered on Sunday morning—Idea McGottart.

NORTH TORONTO

The meetings for the week-end (November 2 and 3) were conducted by our Officers, Captain Coull and Lieutenant Ferris. The knee-drill was indeed a blessing to all present and one soul who had felt God's writhings for a long time surrendered to Him, and in the holiness meeting testified to God's saving power, realizing that a great work had been done for him.

The night meeting was well attended.—K. W. S. Corps Correspondent.

VANCOUVER IV.

New Hall is Opened by Divisional Commander—Officers Say Farewell

After many months of real hard labour and fighting in our little hall on Seymour Street, God has abundantly rewarded us. To-day we are now praising Him in a larger and more cheerful hall, (situated on Smythe Street), with greater opportunities, and brighter prospects for the future in winning souls.

The opening meeting was conducted by Brigadier McLean. The Young People's Band of No. 1 furnished the music. Vancouver IV. is small, but Ensign Lawson and Lieutenant Casler have succeeded in winning many souls, and instilling into the heart of each Soldier and Comrade the love and spirit of Christ. They have received their farewell orders and we are all very sorry that they cannot stay with us longer.

Our Band of Love Leader, Sister E. Robinson, assisted by comrades and friends, gave a farewell tea at which Brigadier and Mrs. McLean presided. Staff-Captain Hallock was also present. A number of the comrades spoke very highly of the Officers' work.

The farewell meetings were held on Sunday, October 25th. The League of Very Sisters from No. 1, kindly assisted in the services.

In the evening meeting Mrs. Wakefield took the lesson and spoke with feeling and power. Brother and Sister Brown were enrolled by the Ensign—K. Cavalier.

WRANGELL, ALASKA

People Show Appreciation of Army's Work by Their Gifts

That Wrangell appreciates the work of the Salvation Army was evidenced by her contribution last week of $427 to the Home Service Campaign conducted by Ensign Caruthers (says the Ensign Sentinel).

It is a rare person who does not give gladly and freely to the Salvation Army under any circumstances, but this tendency becomes particularly marked in a community which has poured with such workers as Ensign and Mrs. Caruthers, who have upheld every tradition of the Salvation Army in their treatment of the weary, the helpless, the sick and discouraged.

OSHAWA

New Officers Receive Hearty Welcome to the Corps

A warm welcome has been given to Ensign and Mrs. Laing at Oshawa. At the welcome meetings on Sunday, October 11th, Sergeant-Major Coull, Ensign "Brewer" Brown, Sister Mrs. Bailey and Bandmaster Brown expressed the feelings of the Corps concerning the new Leaders and hoped that a good work would be done during their stay.

In responding to these addresses, the bandmaster thanked the congregation for the welcome tendered to himself, wife and two children. Mrs. Laing also spoke and asked for the hearty cooperation of all.

NEW GLASGOW

Times of Blessing—Eight Seekers Get the Victory Over Sin and the Devil

Ensign and Mrs. Ashby are leading us into victory at New Glasgow, N. S. We are in the midst of our revival campaign and are having wonderful times of blessing.

On Sunday morning, November 2, two souls knelt at the altar, one for Salvation and one for Sanctification.

On Monday night a united meeting of Pictou County Corps was held. The hall was filled. Captain Howe spoke. After a hard fought prayer battle one young woman came to God. She said she had been to the service on Sunday night and felt convicted, but would not yield, but got so miserable on her way home that she promised God if He would spare her she would come and surrender to Him. She fulfilled her promise to God. Another woman went home and gave herself to God for service, making two for Monday.

On Tuesday we had Captain Hamilton with us. At the close of the meeting four souls claimed victory over sin.—H. D. Corps Correspondent.

REGINA

Brigadier Coombs Leads First Meeting of Holiness Campaign

On Friday night, October 24, the first of a series of holiness meetings was conducted at Regina by Brigadier Coombs. These meetings have been arranged by Ensign Olway, and are held in the Citadel. A good crowd attended and several recovered themselves to the Lord. The service was a great help and we believe many will take advantage of these special meetings through the winter months and much good result.

On Sunday morning Mrs. Olway spoke with power. At the close four came to the front.

In the afternoon meeting Treasurer Mertens gave a talk on "The lost opportunities of a Nation, and the results thereof."

At night the Ensign took charge. His address was chiefly to backsliders and was to the point. He pleaded earnestly with them to listen to the call of God and again take up their Cross. We had the joy of seeing four walk out to the front.—R. J. Corbin, Correspondent.

GLACE BAY, C. B.

Salvation Army Takes Part in Peace Celebration and Float Wins One of the Prizes

The Glace Bay Corps took part in recent Peace celebrations. We had a float representing an Army Hut in France. This was a great success and as we passed along the route of parade the veterans did not forget to give the Salvation Army a good cheer. The following is an extract from the local daily paper:

"The Salvation Army Hut won the seventh prize. This float represented a Salvation Army Hut in France where the soldiers eat and get a welcome bite to eat."—A.H.R.

CRANBROOK, B. C.

Officers Say Farewell—Spirited Junior Work Has Been Built Up

On Sunday night, October 26th, we said farewell to our Officer, Ensign Brown, who has been with us for fifteen months. A good spirit prevailed in the meeting. The comrades referred to the good service rendered by the Ensign, and of the blessing she had been to them, also to the splendid junior work built up during the past year.

Both Seniors and Young People are happy to part with the Ensign because of her Godly life and faithfulness and earnest toil in the interests of all classes.

Commandant Melkie who has been furloughing with Ensign Brown for some time and has assisted with the work, also said good by and left for her appointment in Calgary.

MACLEOD, ALTA.

Brigadier Hay Pays Farewell Visit

On Friday, October 24th, our Divisional Commander farewelled from our Corps, Adjutant Johnstone of Lethbridge, also Captain Munro, assisted in the meeting. The Officers from Coleman were also here.

During the short period to the Brigadier's visit many who would like to have come were unable to do so, but those who came much enjoyed and appreciated the Brigadier's words of counsel.

Captain G. Fox of Coleman, led the meetings Saturday and Sunday, October 25th and 26th, and they were much enjoyed.—S. W. C.

COLEMAN, ALTA.

We held our Harvest Festival on October 13th. We had no set target given us, but we realized the sum of $80, for which we heartily thank God.

We recently had a visit from Captain Evans and Lieutenant Carter. They conducted a week-night meeting.—Nellie Graham, Corps Cadet.

DRUMHELLER, ALTA.

On Friday, October 23rd, Major Goodwin was with us at Drumheller and a good crowd was present. A number of men were won to the power of God. The Major's words were a great help and inspiration to all. One woman decided for God.

NEW DIVISIONAL OFFICER

Is Heartily Welcomed at New Aberdeen and New Waterford, at Crowded Meetings Conducted by the Field Secretary

On Friday, October 31st, the welcome meeting of Adjutant and Mrs. Burton at New Aberdeen was well attended and enjoyed by those present. Brigadier Morris introduced Adjutant and Mrs. Burton as Officers whom he could highly recommend.

The Adjutant enrolled under the Colours his first Soldier in his new Division, Captain Grearix, soldier, Rev. McLennon and Mr. A. D. McLean each spoke a few words of welcome.

Young People's Sergeant-Major Mrs. Rea welcomed them on behalf of the Young People's Corps and Mr. McMillan spoke for the Senior Corps.

Handsman S. Fenneyhough, of Glace Bay Corps, spoke for the Adjutant and Mrs. Burton thanked one and all for their warm words of welcome, and spoke of their determination to go forth to win souls.

Brigadier Morris read from the Word of God, and spoke for a few moments on music. Captain Rea, of Glace Bay, closed with prayer.

At New Waterford Adjutant and Mrs. Burton were heartily welcomed at a crowded meeting led by Brigadier Morris. A large number of citizens, representative of various denominations were present, the platform being crowded to capacity.

His Worship, Mayor Long, and Stipendiary Magistrate spoke words of welcome. Rev. Whidden and Mr. E. M. Prouse also spoke on behalf of the churches. Brother Watts spoke on behalf of the Corps.

SYDNEY MINES

The Field Secretary conducted the welcome meeting on Friday, November 2nd. Mr. D. G. McDonald, Brother Lorimer and Sergeant-Major Alcock welcomed the Adjutant and his wife who made fitting replies. Brigadier Morris dedicated John James Noble. The Life-Saving Guards sang a welcome song and the Pank, under Brother J. Kees, supplied the music.

RIVERDALE (TORONTO)

On Sunday, November 9, the Hall was packed and following Ensign Snowdon's Salvation address two souls sought Salvation, making a total of five for the week-end.

Brother and Sister Turner were heartily welcomed from the Old North Division. The night holiness meetings are being well attended and the Corps is displaying a great longing for the deeper things of God. Recent converts are settling into uniform and justifying.

THE ARMY CARED

Heid by the Salvation Army while the police sent word to Hamilton, a little boy, arrested last week on a charge of vagrancy, waited.

Said Inspector McKinney: "I wrote to Hamilton about this boy and was asked to be as lenient as possible. Then his father wrote, saying he 'might' come to face 'very much'."

The Salvation Army cared and took the boy away.—(Toronto Telegram.)

PROMOTED TO GLORY

MRS. CAPTAIN AINSLIE

"May my life be like the Maple Leaf that grows more beautiful as it fades." These words were written by Mrs. Captain Ainslie in her song-book before her last illness.

She came to Victoria soon after Captain Ainslie had taken charge of the newly opened Hospital. It was hoped that the climate and surroundings would be beneficial to her, but before many weeks had passed it was evident that her strength was gradually ebbing.

Mrs. Captain Ainslie

Others who took part in the service were Secretary Mrs. Jones, of Vancouver, I., from which Corps Mrs. Ainslie went on as an Officer, Sister Mrs. Jones, of New Westminster, where they were stationed and where baby Annie was born, and Handsman Wat-on, of Vancouver II., their last station.

The funeral procession was headed by the united Bands and six women Officers, Commandant Mrs. Hebb, Adjutant Hallday, Mrs. Captain Black, Ensign Lawson, Mrs. Ensign Marsland and Lieutenant Casler, who were white ankers, were pallbearers.

She was laid to rest in Mountain View Cemetery. Captain Ainslie returned to Victoria after the funeral and was present at a memorial service held there on the following Sunday night, conducted by Commandant and Mrs. Jones.

Brother Wiles, whose wife and daughter are caring for little Annie, spoke words of comfort and hope on behalf of the Corps, and Mrs. Wood spoke for the Songsters.

Expressed Sympathy

Mrs. Teller, the League of Mercy Sergeant-Major, who was a constant visitor at Mrs. Ainslie's bedside, told of her confidence in God during the dark hours and expressed deep sympathy for the family who knew the Captain felt for him and his motherless little one.

Commandant Cammings spoke for the city Officers and Songster Leader Irwin sang "The Homeland." Commandant Jaynes took the Bible lesson and telling of his last visit to Mrs. Ainslie when she had just enough strength to assure him that all was well, urged all present to prepare for the seedlings of Jordan. Memorial services were also held at Vancouver II. and New Westminster.—A. E. T.

ious visitors she expressed her joy and contentment that the Saviour had again come to her heart.

At the service, conducted by Adjutant Merritt, Mrs. White joyfully recalled her conversations and incidents connected with her sickness.

Impressive indeed was the funeral gathering, but tinged with joy, withal, that a loved one was safe home at last.—H.

CANDIDATES' SECRETARY

Blessing Attends Tour in the East. Comrades Surrender for Officerhood After Long Holding Back

Lieut.-Colonel Moreken, the Candidates' Secretary, is having much blessing in his tour in the East. Reports just to hand speak of visits to Bridgewater (Captain A. Bryant and Lieutenant Frost); Liverpool (Captain I. Hickling and Lieutenant Richardson); Shelburne (Captain Parry and Candidate Bond); Yorkmouth (Ensign and Mrs. Forbes); Digby (Ensign Bond); Kentville (Captain and Mrs. Bexton); Windsor (Captain and Mrs. Eriksen), and Truro (Adjutant and Mrs. Johnstone).

In a communication to "The War Cry," the Colonel speaks glowingly of the manner in which the comrades of the various Corps turned out for duty, and the enthusiasm and eagerness for victory during the winter campaign which was showing.

Among the outstanding events were the coring forward of one seeker at Yarmouth, where the weekend was spent, and where, in the absence of the Officers owing to the illness of the mother of Mrs. Forbes, Brother and Sister Ainslie, who were looking after the Corps' affairs and doing it well. At Windsor the child of the Officers was delivered and at the close of the preceding a young woman who had been holding back for three years, gave herself fully to God with a view to becoming a Candidate in the next Session at the Training College. At Truro a young man surrendered. He had become a backslider as a result of rheumatism. He declared he would follow Christ at all costs, and that meant the Training College. The Colonel spoke on his own experience of the day in obeying God and at several in addition lectured on "Fruitful of Grace I Have met."

DAY OF HOLINESS

Is Rich Time of Blessing at Earls Court—Sixteen Seek Salvation

In connection with the "Out of the Ruins" Campaign at Earls Court our Officers, Ensign and Mrs. Parsons conducted a Day of Holiness on Sunday.

The morning session was a time of rich blessing, God's presence filling every soul and drawing many into Him.

The Songsters conducted the afternoon service, giving a Song Service entitled, "Songs of Holiness," which was very interesting.

The evening service at which there was a packed hall was a time indeed. Corps Cadet Eva Shiplick, who is going to Uxbridge to assist Captain Shiplick, her sister, farewelled and the Flag, the Corps Cadet, who has held several positions in the Young People's Corps and who is a strong heart-seeker, addressed the assembly by the Ensign. Many Young People knelt at the mercy seat.

MIMICO

On Sunday, November 2nd, Captain Shiplick said farewell. She gave a short Bible talk after which a red hot prayer meeting was held and we had the joy of seeing five more added to the Mercy Seat.

A wind-up and consecration meeting was then held. We all pray that God will send forth the seed to his new field of labour.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Welcome to Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie

BEFORE these Notes are in circulation, Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie will have been welcomed by the Officers and comrades of Canada West who are stationed in and around Winnipeg, or who may be able to reach the Territorial centre for the occasion.

While reports of their welcome meetings, and those to be held elsewhere subsequently, will be eagerly looked for, there is no manner of doubt in any mind but that the reception of the incoming Leaders will be given will be the very heartiest. For many reasons the incoming Territorial Commander and his life partner will be welcomed. They will be gladly received for their own sakes, as talented, well-trained, and able leaders; they will likewise find hearts open to them for what they represent, for the forces they come to command, yield to none the palm for loyalty to the principles of Salvationism and the Leaders to whom God has committed the direction of the affairs of the worldwide Salvation Army.

They will further be welcomed for the sake of those whose place they come to fill. There is, happily, very little room given nowadays to the foolish idea that loyalty to a departing Commander implies anything but the warmest welcome to a new. The best service one can render to those who have gone is to so serve those who come that the interests which are the interests of all are furthered to the greatest possible extent.

It is not with the old and on with the new. But, for the sake of the old, a welcome to you!

The Campaign

THE "Out of the Ruts" Campaign Manifesto has by this time not only reached all parts of the Field in Canada East, but all Officers and Soldiers who are sure, have made themselves familiar with its contents. We have no doubt but that it has stirred the Troops of the Territory to increased activity, and that they are now eager to get ready for participation in the well-planned Campaign to which all have been called.

The intelligent and whole-hearted co-operation of every Soldier and Recruit is necessary to the accomplishment of the ends in view, and we are confident this will be forthcoming.

Many comrades are already in the firing line, where they have fought long and bravely; others have not yet entered upon active service. The call is for all to take part in the battle. A rush of reinforcements to the front, and the inclusion of every unit in the forces engaged will enable a general advance to be made and greater things achieved than the Salvation Army has ever yet known, although God has already given us many glorious victories.

We would pass on to every reader the words of the Army's famous war song—

"To the front! The cry is ringing,
To the front! Your place is there;
In the conflict men are wanted,
Men of hope and faith and prayer."

Back from the host crowding to the conflict we already catch their echoing complement—

"Banners shall claim no right
From the battle-front to take us;
Fear shall vanish in the fight,
For triumph shall make us use!"

All At It!

LAST WEEK we called attention to the duty devolving upon Commanding Officers in respect to the employment of the troops at their disposal, and quite recently from one of the late General's earliest charges to his staff in support of the importance of setting all to work. Too much cannot be said of the thorough and practical putting into effect of that old motto of our Founder's, "All at it, all the time!"—the essence of which is "Out of the Ruts" Manifesto.

The tendency to allow Soldiers to remain unemployed increases as the Corps grows in size. The ability of a leader to select and direct by a call upon him to profitably employ a large body of troops, than to advance alone, or supported by only a few, even though he may have in the latter case to face fierce opposition. It is, of course, understood that the Local Officers of a Corps share responsibility for the employment of Soldiers with the Commanding Officer, and that they are expected to make the fullest use of those who are happy to be placed in the various departments of Corps' work placed under their direction.

But while much depends upon the Officers of the Corps, Soldiers are always expected to show themselves willing to take duty. There are innumerable opportunities for usefulness which must necessarily wait for utilization upon the personal initiative of the rank and file. It will be characteristic of the spirit of the Campaign, as it is hoped it will take hold of the whole of the Army, for there to be no waiting for comrades to testify or pray in the Hall or open-air; for no opportunity of speaking privately to men and women about Salvation to be missed; and that those who have up till now been timid and have hung back will come boldly to the front to show themselves "employable" and ready to accept any duties which may be allotted to them.

Done Dry Prohibition

WHILE not all that could be desired by the many who like themselves, need no further convincing that the people of Canada, as a whole, have determined that Strong Drink must be forever banished from our land, the legislation which has now been passed by the Dominion Parliament makes it possible for any Province that has decided to go "dry" to protect itself from importations of alcoholic liquors from outside.

It is sincerely to be hoped that steps will be taken at once in each of the Provinces affected to bring into action the provisions of the new law, so that when the present Ordinance, which deals with the importation of things shall cease, the proclamation of peace, to the effect, there may be little, if any time for "dry" to be a danger-drink is as undesirable and dangerous in the dollar as in the bar.

China's New Leader

Meets the Toronto Officers at a Gathering Presided Over by COMMISSIONER RICHARDS, and Gives an Address Full of Delightful Reminiscences of the Salvation War

TORONTO Officers have been greatly privileged of late in meeting many Foreign Service Officers of International repute, listening to their words of counsel, and hearing first hand of experiences which reveal the true blood and fire spirit of those who have had a hand in making the Army in various lands.

Serves as Education

There can be no doubt that this privilege is deeply appreciated and that the opportunity afforded of rubbing shoulders, so to speak, with these comrades tends to broaden one's outlook and sympathies and, in fact, serves as an education in Army history. There is also a transference of spirit in such meetings which is decidedly wholesome. As Solomon says: Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend. We may read about various persons, we may rejoice over accounts of victories they have won, but it is the personal touch with which confuses and inspires one to emulation of their deeds as nothing else can.

There was great pleasure amongst the Toronto Officers when, recently, it became known that Commissioner and Mrs. Pearce, who as many of our readers are aware, are on their way to China, would be present at a meeting in the Council Chamber on Thursday, October 6th.

Feelings of All

The feeling of all present was aptly expressed by Brigadier McEwan when she prayed, "We thank Thee for the comrades who are with us to-night, for what they are and what they stand for."

The Chief Secretary, who had just returned from Montreal, where he had gone to meet Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie, brought a message of greeting from them. He then expressed the feeling of all present was aptly expressed by Brigadier McEwan when she prayed, "We thank Thee for the comrades who are with us to-night, for what they are and what they stand for."

Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie

Are Greeted by Salvationists at Port Arthur and on the Train Goes Through Station

As the train bearing Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie westward pulled into Port Arthur station, the strains of music from a corner and the singing of "No we never will give in" by a group of Salvationists greeted their attention. Captain McPhedran, Lieutenant Nelson and comrades of the Corps extended a warm welcome to our new Leader.

The Commissioner, in a few well-chosen words, expressed his appreciation and said he hoped to soon have the pleasure of spending a few minutes, Mrs. Eadie had only time to say a few words as the train pulled away. Port Arthur being the last of the Corps east in the Canadian West Territory, we were pleased to have the opportunity of being first to welcome to our new Commissioner and his wife and assure them of our hearty co-operation.

China's New Leader

Meets the Toronto Officers at a Gathering Presided Over by COMMISSIONER RICHARDS, and Gives an Address Full of Delightful Reminiscences of the Salvation War

pressed his delight at again meeting Commissioner and Mrs. Pearce and recalled his first meeting with them in Australia twenty-three years ago, of having always regarded Commissioner Pearce as a man of strong and glorious character with a deep spiritual experience," said Lieut.-Colonel J. H. Turner, the Commissioner and his wife Godolphin to China. He also referred to his associations with Colonel Jiffie and Adjutant Clouston, who were present. The last-named Officer, with his wife, as announced last week, is bound for Japan.

Brigadier J. H. Turner also spoke briefly, mentioning the presence of the Commissioner in her when she was in England some years ago. The interesting fact was mentioned of Mrs. Pearce's mother, Richard, that it was exactly twenty-one years ago that she and the Commissioner left England to go on Foreign Service.

Had Helped Many

"I am glad of the opportunity God has given us to do something for Him," she said. Referring especially to Mrs. Pearce, she said that when in South Africa she had found her to be a woman with a great heart, one who felt for the father and the poor. Through her influence many women had been helped and blessed and she was sure that she was just the woman who was needed in China to cheer and encourage the women Officers there.

"May God bless her and the Commissioner and give them many joys," she continued, "May China glow with the spirit of the Salvation Army and may many be brought out of darkness into light."

The little talk given by Colonel Jiffie was an intimate revelation of the soul struggles of an Officer and was undoubtedly helpful and stimulating to those present.

"The principle of the altar underlies all Army service," he said, "We must be willing to sacrifice in order to do God's will."

Commissioner and Mrs. Eadie

Are Greeted by Salvationists at Port Arthur and on the Train Goes Through Station

Port Arthur being the last of the Corps east in the Canadian West Territory, we were pleased to have the opportunity of being first to welcome to our new Commissioner and his wife and assure them of our hearty co-operation.

Calgary Young People

Enjoy Blessed and Profitable Councils Conducted by COLONEL TURNER, the Chief Secretary—Officers Relate Interesting Experiences—Affecting Consecration Scenes

THE importance attached to the Young People's work was shown by the presence, at the Councils just closed at Calgary (writes Envy Hawley), of so many and notable visiting Officers. From Winnipeg there were Colonel and Mrs. Turner, Major Sims, Major Peacock, Major Goodwin, Major Brigadier Potter, from Edmonton, Brigadier and Mrs. Hay, Major Smith, Commendator Birkwood, Captain Mundy; from outside points, Officers and delegates; and from Calgary, a full quota of the Social and Field Departments, Colonel W. J. H. Turner, the Chief Secretary, conducted the series of seven sessions.

Welcome Meeting
Saturday night's welcome meeting at the City of Commerce Hall, to be followed by the Councils, was given by the visiting Officers, and by Young People's Sergeant-Major Charles, Major Sergeant-Major A. Newbair, and Captain Pitt. Captain MacNicol, with his B. 111, Songsters rendered "The Fight is Ours."

The Sunday meetings were held in Hickman Hall, where throughout the day the Colonel delivered a number of addresses that were most helpful and inspiring. Holding the attention of his hearers throughout, it may be truly described as a season of putting first things first. The right start in life was, by illustration, teaching and example shown to be the way to secure fruitfulness and satisfaction. Education was given us in every place, but the Colonel urged, with it is an advantage, it has its dangers, and in no case must we put first. Obedience to God will in all things be the most important considerations.

In the afternoon several speakers were called upon. Lieutenant Florrie Garnett, of Westwinton, told of how different, for the better, Officership was from what she had anticipated. In a similar Confession a year ago, she had rested on that song, "I'm set apart for Jesus." For two years before she had been disobedient to her call, but now found untold joy in working for the Master.

Three Decades Ago

Commendator Birkwood, Edmonton, had been converted 30 years ago. For a long time he had lacked courage to be an Officer. The test, "Faithfulness in the smallest things will also do it," had decided him. When, one Sunday morning he approached his Officer, Major Galt, her encouraging words were: "You might be led in this step!"

Major Smith, Edmonton, gave a rare recollection of her work with Corps and field difficulties, and how they were overcome. Mrs. Brigadier Potter, Women's Social Secretary, told of how, at the age of seventeen, she had taken her stand in the first Army meeting she ever attended. Two months later she was ordered for her work.

"I couldn't pray, speak nor sing, but I knew God wanted me," said Mrs. Potter. Her consecration had been inside of six months, but she was not at home, but two years later her father came to the rescue at a meeting in Minneapolis.

Welcome Meeting
Saturday night's welcome meeting at the City of Commerce Hall, to be followed by the Councils, was given by the visiting Officers, and by Young People's Sergeant-Major Charles, Major Sergeant-Major A. Newbair, and Captain Pitt. Captain MacNicol, with his B. 111, Songsters rendered "The Fight is Ours."

The Sunday meetings were held in Hickman Hall, where throughout the day the Colonel delivered a number of addresses that were most helpful and inspiring. Holding the attention of his hearers throughout, it may be truly described as a season of putting first things first. The right start in life was, by illustration, teaching and example shown to be the way to secure fruitfulness and satisfaction. Education was given us in every place, but the Colonel urged, with it is an advantage, it has its dangers, and in no case must we put first. Obedience to God will in all things be the most important considerations.

In the afternoon several speakers were called upon. Lieutenant Florrie Garnett, of Westwinton, told of how different, for the better, Officership was from what she had anticipated. In a similar Confession a year ago, she had rested on that song, "I'm set apart for Jesus." For two years before she had been disobedient to her call, but now found untold joy in working for the Master.

Three Decades Ago

Commendator Birkwood, Edmonton, had been converted 30 years ago. For a long time he had lacked courage to be an Officer. The test, "Faithfulness in the smallest things will also do it," had decided him. When, one Sunday morning he approached his Officer, Major Galt, her encouraging words were: "You might be led in this step!"

Major Smith, Edmonton, gave a rare recollection of her work with Corps and field difficulties, and how they were overcome. Mrs. Brigadier Potter, Women's Social Secretary, told of how, at the age of seventeen, she had taken her stand in the first Army meeting she ever attended. Two months later she was ordered for her work.

"I couldn't pray, speak nor sing, but I knew God wanted me," said Mrs. Potter. Her consecration had been inside of six months, but she was not at home, but two years later her father came to the rescue at a meeting in Minneapolis.

THE GENERAL

To Visit Switzerland, Holland, France, the United States, Canada, New Zealand, and Australia

BEGIN TO PRAY FOR BLESSING HERE

In the near future the General will (D. V.) be undertaking two extensive overseas tours which will lead him many thousands of miles away from the International Centre. Switzerland, Holland, and France come first on the list, and after the conclusion of a three weeks' Campaign in these countries, where the respective Territorial Commanders, Commissioner Ophthall, Colonel Howard, and Colonel Peyron, with Salvationists in each Command, will welcome their Leader with unfailing delight, the General will be almost immediately turning his face Westward towards our side of the Atlantic. His former visit, many of our readers will remember with the keenest delight, was abundantly blessed.

Here Commendator Eva Bonth and Commissioner Eadell, with the American Salvationists and adherents, will show the General how glad they are that the long-delayed privilege of seeing and hearing him has come at last. In Canada, East and West, Commissioner Sierbuck and Commissioner Balle will gladly marshal their respective forces in various centres for great Salvation Campaigns.

From Canada, the General will travel still westward to the Antipodes, and in Australia will be welcomed with open arms by Commissioner Day, as also in New Zealand by Commissioner Hodder.

Our readers will recognize the splendid reception that were given the General recently in Scandinavia, and whilst the Army is not so strongly established in some parts of the Continent as it is in those northern countries, the spirit of the Organization is the same the world over, and we are sure that one of the results of the General's presence in all these Territories overseas will be increased activities in all departments of Army warfare.

So far as Canada's own share in the Campaign is concerned, we are sure there will not only be participation of a good time, but straightaway earnest prayer will be offered that God will make it all He desires for it in the way of imparting instruction, inspiration and impetus to the Salvation Army of these Territories.

PRAISE AND PRAYER

How Territorial Headquarters Staff Observed the King's Request on Armistice Day

Owing to the shortness of notice of the King's request that on the anniversary of Armistice Day (Nov. 11) there should be a cessation of all activities for a few minutes, we were unable to make any announcement regarding this. But our blessing of Territorial Headquarters in Toronto, Lieut.-Colonel Miller, in the absence of the Commissioner and Chief Secretary, and the Staff, together at eleven o'clock for a short service of song and prayer, and all joined heartily in thanking and praising God for His blessing of peace. The bereaved were also remembered in prayer, and earnest petitions attended that God would pour out His Spirit on the whole world and bring the nations to a knowledge of Himself.

COVER AND ART SECTION

TWO-PAGE REPRODUCTION OF FAMOUS PAINTING

We are informed that never before has the Prince given an autographed photo to a newspaper. The present gift was made in response to a request by the Editor because the Prince desired to show his interest in the Salvation Army, his sympathy with those who have lost loved ones in the war and who he could not otherwise reach, and his remembrance of comradeship with those who answered the call of duty and served with the troops overseas.

Below is a list of the Corps who have already placed orders for a thousand or more copies of our Christmas Number. Last year supplies ran short before all who wanted extra copies could have their orders filled. To avoid similar disappointment Corps Officers should place their full orders at once.

The orders already in hand reach in the aggregate to the neighbourhood of 170,000. Supplies are now being dispatched. New for another record to keep up the sequence of recent years! Hallelujah!

This list discloses some interesting situations. We commend it to the study of oil for this and the two following reasons:—

1. Because it discloses at which Corps our most enterprising Officers are stationed.
2. Because we hope it will be a source of encouragement to those who are stationed at places, similar in size and opportunity, but from which we have not yet received orders in proportion.

The offer made in previous years holds good for this. "The War Cry" will be pleased to have single column cuts made of Officers whose Corps take a thousand or more, and to present them to them. Send photos to the Editor.

Captain and Mrs. Johnstone (late of India Nilgion Field) have been welcomed to Canada West Territory. They have been appointed to the command of the Fort Rouge Corps. It will be remembered that the Captain was one of the first Officers to go to India after the formation of the Western Territory some four years ago. He and Mrs. Johnstone in India, where she has acted for many years. It is owing to Mrs. Johnstone's health that they have been compelled to leave that interesting mission field, much to their regret.

A number of changes have recently taken place, and among them the following Officers have been affected: Ensign and Mrs. Allan are appointed to Swift Current; Adjutant Hardy, Special Work, Saskatchewan Division; Commandant Melkie to Calgary Ill.; Ensign Lawson to Fernie; Ensign Freeman to Vernon.

Brigadier Taylor will conduct the wedding of Captain Sinclair (Saltirk) and Lieutenant Elizabeth Ward (Virden) at an early date.

Breaking of weddings reminds us that upgrading or weddings reminds us that Sister Gladys Hanna, who has for some time been associated with the Trade Department, has left in order to get married. She has served faithfully in the Trade Department, and will be missed. The Staff unite in wishing her much happiness.

Building operations are being rushed.

Building operations are being pushed on new Halts at Regina II. and Weston (Winnipeg VI.). The opening of each will take place shortly.

CAMPAIGN SONGS

COME TO ME

Tunes: "Art thou weary" B.J. 2671
Song Book 26.
Art thou weary, art thou languid,
Art thou sore distressed?
"Come to Me," saith One, "and coming,
Be at rest!"

Hath He marks to lend me to Him,
If He be my guide?
In His feet and hands are wounds.
Prints,
And His side.

If I find Him, if I follow,
Why my portion here?
Many a sorrow, many a labour,
May's a tear.

HE DIED FOR ME

Tunes: "No other argument," 62.
"Gentle," 28.
Jesus, the name high over all,
In hell, or earth, or sky;
Angels and men before Him fall,
And devils fear and fly.

Chorus
We have no other argument;
We want no other plea;
It is enough that Jesus died,
And that He died for me.

Jesus, the name to sinners dear,
The name to sinners given;
He seatters all their guilty fear;
He turns their hell to heaven.
